

GAGOSIAN GALLERY

FT

FINANCIAL TIMES

Critics' choice

Visual arts Jackie Wullschlager

Germany Divided: Baselitz and his Generation

British Museum, London

The newly unveiled magnificent gift of German works on paper from the 1960s-70s, donated to the British Museum by collector Count Christian Duerckheim. Other rare works loaned by the collector are also included, to produce a revelatory, vivid survey of how Georg Baselitz, Gerhard Richter, AR Penck, Blinky Palermo, Sigmar Polke and Markus Lüpertz – all artists born in east Germany who migrated to the west – found a new expressive language as they responded to Germany's psychological and physical destruction and collective guilt following the Nazi era. britishmuseum.org 020 7323 8299, to August 31