Gagosian Lands Jeff Wall

For 25 years, the artist Jeff Wall, who practices a “near-documentary” style of photography, has been represented by Marian Goodman. Now he is moving to Gagosian.

“He would like to be seen more widely as an American artist,” said Mark Francis, a director at Gagosian. “I think that may be something we can do well,” adding that Mr. Wall has contributed “to a kind of redefinition of the possibilities for photography over a 30-year period.”

Asked how she felt about Mr. Wall leaving her gallery, Ms. Goodman said, “We worked together for 25 good years.”

“Sometimes things just come to an end,” she added, “and it’s time for all to move on.”
